TWENTY-EIGHT SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

It is a trustworthy statement:

For if we died with Him, we will also live with Him;

If we endure, we will also reign with Him;

If we deny Him, He also will deny us;

If we are faithless, He remains faithful, for He cannot deny Himself.

TWENTY-EIGHTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIMES

October 9, 2016

Namaan is a Syrian man and he comes to Elisha, the Israelite prophet, to be healed. Elisha knows that Syrians are not part of God's people; they are in fact among the enemies of God's people. They worship an alien God. But Elisha heals Namaan anyway. He tells him to bath in the Jordan river.

After he is healed, Namaan asks if Elisha will give him some dirt to build an altar to Elisha's God. Namaan became committed to the true God. He wants dirt from Israel for an altar so that he can worship the God of Israel when he goes home to Syria. A similar point holds of the Samaritan leper, and even of the woman in Sidon. They become one of Jesus' own, because of Jesus' care for them. "Your faith has saved you," Jesus says to the Samaritan when he returns to Jesus.

The lesson for us is clear. Treat others with gentleness and care, and may you will save their soul. The person in front of you may in the end turn out to be one of the Lord's own people.

Fr. Anton

GRATITUDE: Surely we can all recall at least a few days in our lives when things were going so well that nothing could put us in a bad mood. Maybe it was the day a very special person asked us to the senior prom, or perhaps it was our wedding day. Maybe it was the day we learned that we were expecting a long-awaited child, or the day we got an overdue promotion. There was elation in our hearts and lightness in our step, an extraordinary vitality throughout the day. We probably got on the phone right away to tell at least a few key people about our good fortune. This is surely how Naaman and the leper must have felt when they were rid of their terrible diseases. They were hard-pressed to contain their gratitude, and although they were both unfamiliar with the customs of a foreign land, they had the good manners to thank the people responsible for their cures. THE VISION FOR YOU: Discern Your Personal Vocation, 7pm Wednesday Evenings This is a series of 8 weekly workshops in which we learn a program of prayer and spiritual exercises designed to help us discern our personal vocation - what God is calling us to do, right now, whatever stage of life we are in. It is rooted in the Western tradition of mysticism. For the second part of the evening, those who wish to may join us in Evening Prayer which is chanted (no special singing experience or ability necessary). Because we only have men available to lead others through the process at this point, we are asking that this is a men only group at the moment. If women wish to come, please contact David Clayton and we will organize a separate women's group later. For more information davidicons@gmail.com
